

EVELYN'S RELAXED BONDI BEACH TRIP

Sun, Surf & Sydney's Best Brunch

A relaxed-meets-adventurous one-day escape | Best window: 21 Sept – 2 Oct (mid-semester break, early spring)

Weather is the make-or-break factor for this trip. Late Sept-Oct in Sydney is early spring - mild (18–23°C) but showers are common. Check the Bureau of Meteorology (BOM) forecast 2–3 days out and again the morning-of, and pick the clearest, calmest day in your window before locking anything in.

THE DAY — TIMELINE

- 8:00 AM

Brunch — Blackwood Bondi (or Cafe Bondi)

Kick off with a relaxed brunch: try their eggs benedict or thick-cut toast with a coffee. Both cafés are highly rated, lamb-free on the brunch menu, and a short walk from the sand — go early to skip the weekend queue.
- 9:15 AM

Short coastal stroll — start of the Bondi to Bronte Walk

A gentle 30–40 min there-and-back taste of the famous clifftop walk. Easy trail, huge ocean views, and enough of an adventure fix before settling in for the day — turn back whenever you're ready to hit the sand.
- 10:15 AM

Claim a spot on the sand, right near the sea

Set up close to the shoreline (near the flagged, patrolled area) so it's an easy dip whenever the sun gets too much. Sunscreen, hat, and a towel are non-negotiable — the UV here is strong even on mild days. This is your main relax block, so settle in properly.
- 12:30 PM

Half picnic — sand-side, feet from the water

Grab pre-made picnic bites (cheese, fruit, sandwiches, drinks) from a local deli or Harris Farm-style grocer near Campbell Parade — no lamb, easy to share with friends — then lay a mat right on the beach with the waves in view instead of moving up to the park.
- 2:00 PM

Back to the sand — swim & sunbathe

Cool off at the north end near the flags (patrolled and calmer), then more sun time. Reapply sunscreen — this is the part a sudden downpour would ruin, so keep an eye on the sky.
- 4:00 PM

Adventure hour — paddleboard, surf lesson or the Icebergs pool

For her adventurous side: a 1-hour SUP or beginner surf lesson right off Bondi, or a swim in the iconic Bondi Icebergs ocean pool with knockout coastline views.
- 5:30 PM

Golden hour — Bondi Icebergs Club, ocean-view table

Wind down with a drink or light bite at a café or bar with an unobstructed sea view — Bondi Icebergs Club's terrace looks straight over the pool and open ocean and is made for this exact moment. Book or arrive a little early for a window/terrace seat facing the water so the sunset isn't blocked.

Good to know

- Book brunch spots for 2+ people ahead on weekends — Bondi cafés fill fast.
- No lamb: benedicts, toasts, seafood and veg picnic options are all naturally lamb-free — just double-check any shared mains.
- Stick to highly-rated, well-reviewed cafés to avoid a food letdown — it's flagged as a real trip-ruiner.

If rain shows up

- Move brunch later and linger — Blackwood and Cafe Bondi both run till mid-afternoon.
- Swap sunbathing for the covered Bondi Pavilion, nearby shops on Campbell Parade, or an indoor swim at the Icebergs pool.
- Rebook the beach day for the next clear slot in the 21 Sept – 2 Oct window if it's fully washed out.
